

Download Bell Canada The Voip Challenge

Access to case studies expires six months after purchase date. Publication Date: February 17, 2006. Voice over Internet protocol (VoIP) is beginning to disrupt plain old telephone service (POTS). Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) begin to destroy the good old telephone service (POTS). Ron Close was offered a job heading the emerging VoIP business in Bell Canada. Bell is Canada's largest telecommunications provider, and POTS. Case provides a platform to discuss disruptive innovation (VoIP) and its implications for the current player. Close Ron was offered the position of the business section of nascent VoIP Bell Canada. Bell is the largest telephone company provider POTS Canada. The event provides a platform to discuss a revolutionary innovation (VoIP) and its implications for a player has. Close Ron Bell explains how the challenge of technology and administrative and organizational consequences in a video available on 7B06M009 product. Ron Close has been the work of the position Bell Canada is offered in the nascent VoIP business. Bell is Canada's largest telecommunications company and provider of POTS. The case provides a platform for the discussion of a disruptive innovation (VoIP) and their impact on an established player. Ron Close explains how Bell's technological challenge, and its management and organizational consequences addressed in an available video, product 7B06M009.