

Download Classified Document Control Register

In the U.S., information is called "classified" if it has been assigned one of the three levels: Confidential, Secret, or Top Secret. Information that is not so labeled is called "Unclassified information". The Public Inspection page on FederalRegister.gov offers a preview of documents scheduled to appear in the next day's Federal Register issue. Information Security Webinar Series Storage of Classified Information November 2012 Storage of Classified Information According to DoD Manual 5200.01, Volume 3, Enclosure Sensitive compartmented information (SCI) is a type of United States classified information concerning or derived from sensitive intelligence sources, methods, or analytical processes.