Theatre or theater is a collaborative form of fine art that uses live performers, typically actors or actresses, to present the experience of a real or imagined event before a live audience in a specific place, often a stage. Fantasound was a stereophonic sound reproduction system developed by engineers of Walt Disney studios and RCA for Walt Disney's animated film Fantasia, the first commercial film released in stereo. Movies at this time were shipped to theatres on 1,000 foot reels of 35mm nitrate film. Often, two 1,000 foot reels were spliced together, making a 2,000 foot reel, which over time, became the industry standard.
