José Protasio Rizal Mercado y Realonda, widely known as José Rizal (Spanish pronunciation: [xo?se ri?sal]; June 19, 1861 – December 30, 1896), was a Filipino nationalist and polymath during the tail end of the Spanish colonial period of the Philippines. For more interesting stories, please check out our latest book, “FilipiKnow: Amazing Facts & Figures Every Pinoy Must Know.” Jose Rizal needs no introduction. He is, after all, the country’s quintessential patriotic hero. And unlike other forgotten superstars of the Revolution, Jose Rizal’s Jose Rizal and the Spoliarium. At a gathering of Filipino expatriates in Madrid, Jose Rizal enthusiastically toasted the triumphs his two compatriots had achieved, the other being Félix Hidalgo who won a silver medal, calling it “fresh proof of racial equality”. As one respected Filipino historian once said, “Jose Rizal is everywhere yet he is nowhere.” Let's look back at the life of this oft taken-for-granted hero.
